

Restoring Hope in Their Own Words: A New Kidney for the Thomas Family

When we first heard about the Transplant House, we were apprehensive. Will it be private enough? Will it be clean enough? Will it be full of really sick people? Dreary? We prayed about it. Since it is highly recommended by the UW Transplant Program, we decided to give the house a try.

We visited in July 2016 and found it to be a beautiful environment full of families just like us. Our apprehensions were laid to rest. Cindy and Eric are wonderful caretakers of the house as well as each and every guest who comes to the house.

Our second visit was November 2017 for Dave's kidney transplant. The house was full of comfort and support. The dining room table is far more than just meals. It is a daily meeting place for sharing, for listening, for comforting, for crying, for joking and for meeting up with the friends we made during our stay.

We now know why Restoring Hope Transplant House is so highly recommended by the Transplant Program. It is a real home away from home.
